

Advertorial for V Cycle Clothing Ltd

In recent years and especially after the phenomenal success of the British Olympic Cycling Team, interest in both road cycling and off road cycling has risen dramatically in the UK. It is estimated that the number of regular road cyclists alone now exceeds 2 million (Source: <http://www.britishcycling.org.uk>), and this number is set to steadily rise as a direct result of government financial support to the tune of £77 million.

The popularity of cycling as a sport is also on the increase, which has coincided with a demand for more cycle accessories and of course suitable clothing. For cyclists who expect to be out on the road for any length of time there is a need for a range of stylish yet comfortable clothing. Road safety is obviously an issue that needs to be addressed by the cycle clothing manufacturers and there's also the great British weather to contend with.

Stepping up to the challenge is V Cycle Clothing Ltd, a relatively new cycle clothing manufacturer in the UK, who are also engaged in meeting the demands of cyclists across a range of European countries.
