

“Plastic Wife” Divorces Husband After He Spends Millions On Her Obsession. You Won’t Believe Why She Wanted Him Back.

Birmingham building company owner Mike Saraconi loved his young wife Rebecca so much he spent over £3 million on her over the course of their 6 year marriage. He paid for expensive cosmetic surgery, including facial contouring, breast implants, waist reduction and dental implant work. He paid for her to spend time with her friends and family at the most expensive hotels, dining in the most lavish restaurants in beautiful cities all over the world. He bought her a £150,000 Ferrari Scuderia sports car for her birthday, and they lived in a £5 million mansion. What else could a girl ask for?

Apparently a lot more. When Mike’s building company began to experience a drop in orders, he borrowed money to continue to keep his wife in the lifestyle, to which she had now become very accustomed. However, the situation reached breaking point when the bank called in the loan and threatened to stop all credit facilities to his business. With very few contracts on the books and mounting personal debt, Mike decided enough was enough.

Picked up the tab every time

He put his mansion on the market as a means to raise enough capital to pay off all the company debts together with his personal debts. Meanwhile his wife “Beccy” was still happily spending money on herself, oblivious to the fact that their home was on the market. A “Nose Job” and a further “Tummy Tuck” added another £13,000 to an already stretched overdraft, and an expensive dress with matching accessories maxed out her credit card, which had a £200,000 limit.

When she was finally confronted by Mike and asked to curtail her spending, she responded by filing for divorce. In an interview Mike said, “I couldn’t believe it. I had spent almost £2 million on my wife’s cosmetic surgery alone, just because she said it made her happy. I let her travel all over the world with her friends and family and I picked up the tab every time. I bought her all the luxuries you could ever imagine, then as soon as money began to get a little tight she decided to dump me.”

I stood to lose everything...

He added, “Beccy was 14 years younger than me. She was absolutely gorgeous and looked like a model. Everyone always said I was a lucky man but then I guess they didn’t realise how much it was costing me just to keep her. Now I stood to lose everything. The house, my business, everything. The bank would get it all. When the house was sold I had nothing left. Beccy obviously figured out that wouldn’t be getting any more money and so decided to desert me. Money obviously meant more to her than me, so good riddance to her.”

Peter Clark, a close friend of Mike’s went on record to say, “I know Mike went through a tough time but he’s better off without Beccy. For years his family had tried to tell him that Beccy’s extravagance would be his ruin but he would never listen. We used to call Beccy his Plastic Wife because she had undergone so much plastic surgery. She looked like a real plastic Barbie Doll.”

Beginner's luck or simply good fortune?

The divorce went through and Mike found himself living in a tiny one bedroom flat above a corner shop. It was here while he was whiling away the hours online looking for a new partner that he saw an ad for Betway casino. The £1000 welcome bonus caught his eye and so he decided to sign up and try his hand. Call it beginner's luck or simply good fortune, Mike's life was about to be turned upside down. Still reeling from his expensive failed marriage and feeling decidedly depressed, Mike began playing the Mega Moolah slot on the Betway casino website. A few minutes later and completely "out of the blue", he pulled off one of the biggest casino wins of the year.

He had spent less than £10 when the jackpot came up and now he's richer to the tune of almost £8 million, and he was only playing 25p spins! As huge as it is however, £8 million is by no means a record pay-out for an online slot game. That accolade goes to British soldier, Mr J Heywood, who won a jackpot of over £13 million, which is officially a world record, and is included in the Guinness World Records list. Mr Heywood also won his jackpot on the Mega Moolah slot at the Betway casino. After his lucky strike, Mike was immediately contacted by Betway casino representatives and congratulated on his epic win.

News seems to travel fast...

News seems to travel fast around Birmingham and it wasn't very long before Beccy, his now ex-wife of 10 months, made contact by phone. Apparently, she wanted money for a holiday to the Seychelles. It's reported that she offered Mike an opportunity to get back together but Mike hastily declined. Mike was last seen by friends heading for Heathrow airport, clutching a travel bag and passport, destination unknown.

This huge £8 million jackpot takes Betway's total pay-out to over $5.85 billion. It takes a few minutes to sign up for a free Betway account. You can get started right here.