What you need to make fantastic, colored and fragrant bath bombs

You can see from the video how simple it really is to make your own quality bath bombs, and now you have an opportunity to teach your children how to make the magical bombs yourself.

Before you begin, check that you have all the necessary ingredients, many of which you may already have stored somewhere in your kitchen cupboards.

A big bowl to make the mixture
1 cup of baking soda
½ cup of Epsom Salt
½ cup of Citric Acid
Olive oil or essential oil for fragrance

You will see in the video how to simply mix the ingredients together but there will be 2 vital elements missing... The mica pigment powders and the half-round molds.

A vivid and vibrant, magical range of colors

The mica powders and the special bath bomb molds are essential for making the perfect bath bombs, which are available from Creative Lilly. The specially colored mica powders are what makes this whole process so much more interesting because despite their original color, the final color when they are added to water, will be something entirely different. Keep your kids guessing for even more fun!

What you see is not always what you get

With 10 different colored powder options to choose from, revealing the mystery of what color the bath bombs will be when they explode in the water will have your child screaming with delight. You can use different powders each time or even mix the powders to create your own, new stunning colours. Just experiment!

Perfectly safe cosmetic mica powders

The organic mica pigment powders are non-toxic, perfectly safe and natural, and very often used in a variety of safe cosmetics. These might include lipstick, blusher and eye shadow make-up. Spilled mica powder is also very easy to clean up with a damp cloth. The kit contains enough mica powders to make approximately 200 bath bombs.

Strong aluminum molds to last a lifetime

The molds are made from strong, high quality aluminium so will never rust, and should last a lifetime. There are 3 different sizes in each pack so you have the option of making small, medium or large bath bombs. Even those tiny little hands can now make really exciting bath bombs (Close supervision is advised for children under 5).

For kids of all ages

Adults love making bath bombs just as much as their kids but do it together and the experience becomes a very special occasion. If you have ever wondered what might be the best way to spend some quality time with your kids, this is it. Kids never get bored of making bath bombs, and just can't wait to get into a bath to see the results of their creation.
